

What Do You Notice?

This could be a line, an image, a detail, a word that for some known or unknown reason stood out for you

What Do You Make of What You Noticed?

This could be a question, an inference, an interpretation, an observation, or something you just want to hold on to because you think it might be significant